FACETS OF ENTERPRISE No. 2

"Cooking in Cream"

The growth of Tropical Africa's prosperity rests, in a very large measure, upon her ability to sell her abundant natural produce to the world. In 1949 she disposed of over a million tons, and The United Africa Company performed a vital service in collecting a large share of this from thousands of small producers mostly on behalf of the Government Marketing Boards. It is characteristic of the African way of life that a large part of this large total was contributed by the small producer—sometimes to less of no more than twenty pounds weight at a time. To facilitate the collection The United Africa Company maintains no fewer than 1,700 buying points throughout the whole of British West Africa.
