Locust threat to Africa

The Colonial Office has warned the Madagascar of a possible locust invasion on behalf of the Agricultural Research Council. The locusts, if they appear in April and May, will present a serious threat to the food crops of the Middle East and Africa. There were numerous swarms in the area which are feared with the possibility of a locust invasion in the next two years. Syria, Turkey, India, Ceylon, Egypt and Jordan are also threatened. The locusts are also reported to be in Africa where they will cause much damage to the crops and may spread to the interior of Africa via the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden into Arabia and across its interior deserts. In February, 1951, they appeared in southern Iraq; by the end of the year and summer of 1951 of the month they were reported by October, the locusts were reported to be in the interior of Africa. Other had involved 1,700 miles and cover it was particularly fine brought about a complete crop failure in the area.

A number of the United Nations have supported during the year and summer of 1951 of the month they were reported by October, the locusts were reported to be in the interior of Africa. Other had involved 1,700 miles and cover it was particularly fine brought about a complete crop failure in the area.

New York's Law Against Discrimination

NEW YORK—Among civil rights bills of the State of New York introduced in the Legislature in 1952, the most significant is a bill to amend the law against discrimination in housing. The bill is sponsored by the New York Legislature. It is designed to protect the rights of all persons of color, race, or national origin against discrimination in housing.

The Legislature directed that the bill be drafted to give the board of housing the power to enforce the law. It is one of the most important bills introduced in the Legislature in 1952. The bill is designed to protect the rights of all persons of color, race, or national origin against discrimination in housing.
