Lagos Water Supply

The Lagos Water Supply position has worsened during the past fortnight. The consumption is now 200,000 gallons per day more than the intake from the catchment. The very limited storage has been seriously depleted and unless consumption is reduced immediately it will be necessary to impose very severe restrictions which will cause great inconvenience to all consumers.

This is the last and final warning to all consumers of water. Legal action will be taken against consumers:

(a) Watering gardens from the mains supply.
(b) Using hoses
(b) Wasting water.

All leaking taps must be reported immediately to the Superintendent Lagos Water Supply Lagos Telephone, 1341 Ext. 5.

Niger:an Government Must Act

The announcement made in the London Times recently about a further cut of 5 per cent in the supply of world newsprint is an indication of an imminent famine in the newspaper business.

It is an imminent famine when the announcement stated further that the board will approach their government for a review of the exports of newsprint to other countries.

For the past two months News Paper Proprietors have been facing quite a lot of difficulty in obtaining regular supplies of newsprints for the publication of their papers. There have been acute shortage that some newspapers could not publish for some time.

The apathy of it was that the Nigerian Government looked unconcerned. If newspapers are truly regarded as the fourth estate of the realm, it is the duty of the Government to see that it is protected.

This country will soon be stepping into a new era "Self Government", it is changing from the old constitution to a new one.

This new constitution like the old one, must have its complications and implications, the Pros & Cons of which must be properly explained and widely put accross.

If newspapers Proprietors fail to get enough of newsprints how then does the Government want to explain the new constitution to the people of this country. This one of the important reasons why the Nigerian Goverment must help about this shortage of papers and that is why we say Government must act.
