Sequel To Boycott:

New Election For Kenya's Northeast Region

NAIROBI—New elections are to be held in Kenya's North-Eastern Region, where Somali secessionists started a total boycott in the general elections earlier this year.

During the weekend the Kenya Government in Nairobi released the text of a message from Mr. Duncan Sandys, Secretary of State of Commonwealth Relations and the Colonies to Sir Eric Griffiths-Jones, Acting Governor of Kenya.

The elections will be for National Assembly seats and for a Regional Assembly. At present the North-Eastern Region is governed directly by the Governor with special powers made available to him since the boycott.

The elections will be held either before or after independence, and Mr. Sandys states: "These arrangements will give adequate opportunity to the inhabitants of the North-Eastern Region to enjoy in full measure those benefits of the new constitution which are expressly designed to give all the people of Kenya a large measure of self-government in the conduct of local affairs."

Mr. Sandys adds that he hopes soon to announce the conclusions reached at Kenya's Independence Conference in London, but is already able to give an assurance that the present human rights provisions will be contained in the Independence Constitution and will be among those to be given the strongest entrenchment.

He adds: "The Government of Kenya have also reaffirmed their intention that the regional structure of the constitution shall be maintained and that this also will be strongly entrenched."

Nigeria's Aviation Minister Meets Duke Of Devonshire

LONDON—The Hon. M. Amechi, Nigeria's Minister of State for Aviation, who arrived in London recently is today called on the Duke of Devonshire, British Minister of State for Commonwealth Relations during the week.

After talks with the Duke he had further discussions with Sir Andrew Cohen, Director General of the Department for Technical Co-operation.

He was guest of honour at luncheon given by Mr. Neil Maiten, Parliamentary Secretary to Britain's Ministry of Aviation.

On Thursday he flew by helicopter from Hattersea Heliport, in the heart of London, to Gatwick Airport where he spent the morning touring the Airport and the installations of British United Airways.

He returned to Nigeria by air yesterday.

Unlawful Seizure Of Private Property

The Lagos City Council have recently introduced a System by which a person can be deprived of his property by some Overzealous workers of the Council under the cover of a byelaw.

Some Private Car owners have of late experienced disgrace and inconvenience by having their cars towed away by unauthorised Workers of the Lagos City Council, the only excuse was that such cars were not properly parked.

I know there is a byelaw which empowers the Council to abate nuisance in the street or permit notices to be served on person whose property may be considered to constitute a danger, nuisance or obstruction to the Public or other users of the road, but that byelaw does not allow the Council, or its Workers to take away people's property without Authority.

There are in very many Streets in Lagos old, unserviceable, unmovable Vehicles where Mosquitoes and human beings breed. This nuisance which some people use as sheds, restaurants and stalls do not gain the attention of the City Council Workers, Private cars owned by responsible Citizen have become the pray of the Lagos City Council workers. Some Cars were removed without regard for the Safety of properties kept in the city. Some were towed regardless to mechanical faults. These cars are committed under the guise of a byelaw and not the traffic Ordinance to which the Police is responsible.

The Town Engineer should let the Public know the Section of the byelaw and people will know exactly what to do.

A Victim of this byelaw pays a penalty of £5 or £15 according to the size of the car. He has no defence, his property is unlawfully seized. I say this with out any fear that revenues that have been Collected under the guise of the byelaw is to say the least arbitrary.

Yours etc.,

TAJU THOMPSON.

British "African Chief" Dies

LONDON—A former Managing Director of the Cadbury Cocoa Company who was made an honorary African chief and given the title "Akyempemhene" "given of thousands" died at the weekend at his home in Birmingham. He was Mr. William Hood, aged eighty. He was born in Edinburgh and began work at the age of thirty in a Glasgow shipyard where his job was to open and close the main gates.

He joined Cadbury in 1919 and became its Managing Director in 1943, a position he held for ten years. He became particularly well known in the cocoa trade for his research into the control of swollen shoot disease, a constant problem for cocoa growers.

In 1947 he was made an African chief "in appreciation of his co-operation and friendliness to the Guild of Chiefs." He was presented with a symbolic stool and sandals by Nana Ofori Atta, Second Paramount Chief of the Asyem Adunakpa.

Mr. Hood represented the industry in many negotiations with Government bodies and took a leading part in industrial talks involving West African countries.
