WRPDB's Ranching Projects At Upper Ogun

The countryside around the Upper Ogun area is very different from most of the Western Region, since it consists not of forest, but of Savanah land. Such land is very suitable indeed for farming and for grazing, and at the beginning the Board decided that we should try on a small scale and, as an experiment, mechanised farming and also ranching

The pilot scheme for mechanised farming was not successful and we therefore decided to concentrate most of our efforts towards the establishment of a very fine cattle ranch. There were many important difficulties to be overcome, but we knew that if we could acheive our aim, we would be helping to show that good cattle could be raised in our Region and so begin to make possible a larger and better supply of first-class meat for the people.

Apart from this important aim, we also wanted to make use of land which, unlike many of our projects, is far away from big towns.

We had started our pioneer work in 1952, but in 1954, we made extensive plans to go ahead in a big way

At the beginning of January 1955, there were one hundred and ten cattle on the estate but it was planned to purchase more breeding stock bringing up the total to 350 heads consisting of N'dama and Keteku. These cattle are the most suitable breeds, the N'dama on account of its superior meat and the Keteku for size.

FAT, HEALTHY

In addition, both breeds resists the Trypanosomaisis tsetse fly which is found in the area and which has made normal cattle breeding difficult. Thirty N'dama heifers and two bulls were purchased in Sierra Leone arriving on the Estate in June, 1955, and a second batch of the same breed consisting of sixty heifers and four bulls were imported from the Belgian Congo arriving in August.

You can get some idea of why we imported the cattle by looking at the picture on this page which shows the N'dama and Keteku cattle—fat and healthy— and also the usual cow found in Northern Nigeria which contains very little meat and is not very healthy.

The Western Region Production Development

To All Divisional Councils
" All - Purposes District Councils
" District Councils
" Local Councils

From the Office of the Chairman.
Ibadan.
April 28, 1956.

The Government of the Western Region of Nigeria has already expressed its approval of the policy adopted by the Western Region Production Development Board of establishing plantations in every Division of the Region in co-operation and often in partnership with the Native Authorities. Where the result is a partnership, it is usual for the Native Authority to supply the land the value of which is assessed and treated as their contribution to the scheme. The Board then supplies the necessary funds and technical direction, and the value of this represents the Board's share of the capital.

2. When a plantation so established comes into bearing, the proceeds of the crops are used first to repay to each partner the amount of money he has put in by way of capital and thereafter, the Native Authority and the Board shares the annual profit 50/50. For example, if a Native Authority were to supply 1,000 acres of land suitable for oil palms, they might expect eventually to get an annual profit over £13.000 at present world prices.

3. Alternatively, the Board also undertakes schemes where it leases on a long-term basis land from Native Authorities at economic rent. In this case, where the Native Authority receives the rent each year, even during the establishment period, the Board retains the whole of the profits but the Native Authority benefits not only by the annual rent but also by the increased development and activity which always follows when the Board undertakes new plantation or other Work in the District.

4. If, therefore, you have any suitable land which may interest the Board, you are invited to send particulars to this office so that the necessary investigations can be made. Upon the receipt of your application, the land will be fully investigated and the area visited by the Board's expert staff who will be able to say whether the land is suitable for development and what form of development should be undertaken.

A. O. REWANE,
Acting Chairman,
WESTERN REGION PRODUCTION
DEVELOPMENT BOARD

Board In Partnership With The People

In accordance with the policy laid down by the Western Region Government, as set out in the "Development of the Western Region of Nigeria 1955-60." the Board is expanding its schemes whereby it comes into partnership with local communities to establish plantations and the necessary processings. The two crops specifically mentioned are palms and rubber.

The Board's arrangements with regard to these partnerships are flexible as can be seen by the following examples:-

(a) Urhonigbe:
The Native Authority has rented to the Board 4,000 acres at £400 per annum and has asked the Board for and advance payment of five years in order that they can build for themselves a water supply. This request is receiving the sympathetic consideration of the Board.

(b) Araromi:
A similar approach has been made to the Board whereby an advance of rent will be used by the local community to build and tar a road. Such an application has been received and is being considered by the Board.

The following partnerships have already been entered into by the Board whereby the local community supplies the land and takes a share of the profits:-

Division	Locality	Crops Grown	Acreage	Estimated Board Contribution	Estimated Partner's share of Profits	Aprox No. of Local Labour Employed
Ishan	Igueben	Palms	640	112,000	9,416	150

Ijebu	Lomiro	Plams	600	105,000	8,827	400

Apart from the direct benefit of rent from the Board, the Board often, as part of this contribution, improves the area by construction of road to plantations, etc. Also, the local people take the opportunity of establishing markets and there is an improvement in the prosperity of the area generally.

No. 77.

Grading Of Rubber For Export

1. Under the Rubber (Inspection for Export) Regulations 1951, exporter of Rubber are required to h a v e their rubber graded according to prescribed grades, by t h e Government Produce Inspection Service. The Cameroons Development Corporation, Pamol Ltd (U. A. C.), J. A. Thomas Estates, Joseph Asaboro Estates, and the Western Region Production Development Board R u b b e r Factory, have been exempted from this requirement.

2. There has been some criticism that Nigerian rubber would have a better chance on world markets if it w e r e graded according to the more widely recognised R.M.A/R.S.S. standards, rather than according to the grades prescribed in the Regulations. It has also been suggested that grading by Government Inspectors is not entirely satisfactory, particularly because it delays the rapid movement of rubber.

3. The Produce Inspection Board, after full consideration, has decided that there is considerable force i n this criticism, and proposes to take steps t o amend the Regulations b y adding further exporters, who it considers to b e capable o f doing their own grading, to the Schedule of persons exempted from the Regulations. Such persons will then be able to grade according to the R.M.A./R.S.S. standards, o r other recognised marks.

4. If this extension is successful, and helps Nigerian rubber to obtain a better price on the world's markets, it is hoped that it will be possible eventually to revoke the R u b b e r (Inspection for Export) Regulations entirely.

5. Exporters wishing to gain exemption from the Regulations should apply in writing, using the official forms which may be obtained from the Secretary of the Produce Inspection Advisory Committee of the Region i n which their place o f business is situated.

6. The addresses of the Secretaries of the Regional Produce Inspection Advisory Committees are:-

Western Region	c/o	Western Region Produce, Inspection Service, Ibadan.
Eastern Region	c/o	Eastern Region Produce Inspection Service, Port-Harcourt.
Northern Region:	c/o	Northern Region Produce, Inspection Service, Kano.

J. R. VERNON, Chairman.
H. D. MENDHAM, Secretary
Produce Inspection Board.

WRPDB's Ranching Project

When enough castle have been bought, they will be divided into three herds namely: pure N'dama, pure Keteku and one herd of Keteku cross N'dama.

Establishing a cattle ranch which means starting with selected stock and breeding herds from them is a slow business. In planning such a project 15 years is only a short time, and it will mark only one stage in the overall scheme for our cattle ranch.

In addition to cattle we are also breeding first-class sheep for more meat and healthier animals.

At present there are one hundred and fifty-five sheep on the Estate and in spite of setbacks in the past due to disease it has now been proved that with sound management as has been carried out during the past year, sheep can be a financial success. It must however, be borne in mind that only the dwarf type is suitable for breeding here. From experience gained, this breed, with selection and management, should prove as profitable as cattle. Every effort is now being made to increase the flock to five hundred herds.

ESSENTIAL

If livestock is to thrive here, it is extremely necessary to improve the pasture and this has already been tackled in the form of periodical mowing. Approximately 250 acres having already been done, the final target to this purpose is one thousand acres. In addition, the Pasture Research Department of the University College, Ibadan, is co-operating in this matter by carrying out experiment to produce the most suitable grass seed mixtures.

Eventual fencing of one thousand acres for mowing will be essential and will be subdivided into four paddocks of 250 acres, the control of grazing being made possible by the use of electric fencing.

Where livestock is concerned it is absolutely essential that an adequate supply of clean drinking water should be available and for this purpose, a supply will be laid on to all paddocks.

In an effort to safeguard the health of the animals, they should be kept as a closed herd in order to minimise the danger from disease. Veterinary assistance is indispensable, hence close liaison has been kept with the veterinary authorities.

This livestock breeding project, if pursued with vigour will undoubtedly be of immense benefit to the Region, demonstrating what can be done to directly improve the health and standard of living of the people.
